Roy the Cowboy

Roy was a cowboy. He had one problem. He 9 could not eat much of the food that the other 19 cowboys ate. So, he ate soybeans. 25

In the morning, Roy fried soybeans in a little oil. 35
He had boiled soybeans for lunch. He ate mashed 44 soybeans for dinner. For snacks, he ate dry 52 roasted soybeans. 54

One cowboy asked, "Roy, why do you eat so 63
many soybeans?" 65

"Well, I do not eat meat. I enjoy eating 74 soybeans. They are tasty and good for you. And 83 they do not spoil in my saddlebag." 90

But one day Roy did get tired of eating 99 soybeans. He wanted something else. His wife, 106
Joy, packed some mush wrapped in foil. 113

At first Roy liked the mush. So all Roy ate was 124 mush, mush, and more mush until he couldn't eat 133
another bite of it. 137

Now Roy is back to eating soybeans. But every 146 once in a while, he eats a little mush—just for 157 something different. 159
